

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers" said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Banker:

"The daily care of other people's money takes heavy toll from a man's nerves and brain.

The banker who can find a tobacco that will lend keenness and calmness to his brain without exacting compound interest from his nerves, has found something to be thankful for."

PICNIC TWIST is just that sort of tobacco—full of mildness and natural sweetness that you can't find in heavy tobacco and without a heavy tobacco's 'come back' on the nerves.

Only the mild mellow part of the leaf goes into the soft, convenient PICNIC TWISTS. Isn't that the sort of a chew you want?

ANCONA HARBOR IS FINEST ON ADRIATIC

Italian City Recently Bombarded by Austrian Fleet is Described.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—Ancona, the seaport bombarded by the Austrians during their first raid upon the Italian coast, forms the subject of today's National Geographic Society's war primer, which reads: "After Venice the most important city along the Italian coast of the Adriatic sea is Ancona, which was visited by the Austrian fleet immediately following Italy's declaration of war."

Ancona is also a port capable of strong defense, its forts being thoroughly modern and well placed on the semi-circular heights that surround the city. Its harbor, the finest on the southwestern coast of the Adriatic, and one of the best possessed by any of the great powers, is a masterpiece of engineering. The harbor basin is an oval about half a mile in diameter.

Venice lies 138 miles away to the northward, by direct water route, while Rome lies 150 miles to the south. Ancona is contained between two extremities of a rocky promontory, Monte Astagno to the south and Monte Guasco to the north. On these heights are formidable harbor defenses. The city, itself, is the headquarters for the Italian sea army corps. It is a city of the port, with Brindisi and all the seaside cities to the south. It also has rail connection on trunklines with Rome and with Bologna. While the number of vessels annually visiting the harbor has materially decreased, the tonnage has increased somewhat. Statistics for a recent year show that Ancona was a port of call for 1,400 vessels, with a total tonnage of 964,612. During the eighties of the last century, between 2,000 and 2,500 ships visited this port each year.

"Ancona is one of Italy's ancient cities, and, despite its commercial prosperity, it makes its antiquity painfully evident by an unkempt, overgrown appearance. Its streets being dirty and its houses, for the most part dingy. Refugees from Syracuse founded the city about 390 B. C., and gave to it the name by which it is known."

Garbage and rubbish must be handled according to the following city ordinance found on page 17, section 1, which reads as follows:

"Be it ordained by the council of the city of Clarksburg, West Virginia, that for the purpose of this ordinance the word 'garbage' shall be held to mean and include table and kitchen refuse, swill and every accumulation of both animal and vegetable matter that attends the preparation, decay and dealing with of meat, fish, fowl, birds and vegetables, but not fish, water or wash water. The word 'rubbish' shall be held to mean and include paper, rags, pasteboards, boxes, berry boxes, sweepings, chips, tin, tinware, glass, rubber and leather of all kinds."

Section 2. That all tenants, owners and occupants of all dwelling houses, apartment houses, boarding houses, hotels and restaurants, and of all other places where garbage and rubbish are accumulated, shall be held to continue to have on hand on the premises suitable receptacles for the deposit therein all garbage and rubbish. Galvanized iron cans shall be used to contain all garbage, and all garbage shall be deposited therein, and such owner or occupant of all such dwellings, dwelling houses and apartments and all other places enumerated in the section shall at all times keep a suitable barrel or box to contain rubbish and deposit therein all such rubbish which accumulates on such premises."

Section 4. Any person or persons, firm or corporation, violating these sections of this ordinance upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars and in default of the payment of the fine and costs of said prosecution may be imprisoned not to exceed thirty days."

Section 5. It shall be the special duty of the sanitary officer performing the duties now performed by the sanitary officer to see that the provisions of this ordinance are strictly obeyed and complied with and to institute and prosecute any and all violations of the provisions thereof."

It is important that every citizen comply with the circumstances, as bottles, cans, crockery, etc., when thrown in garbage cans go into the furnace at the city crematory, choke it up and put the city to a very high and extra cost to keep the crematory in repairs.

Rheumatism is a dangerous disease, because of its shifting nature it often strikes the heart and proves fatal. Any one with even a taint of rheumatism ought to drive it out as soon as possible.

Rheumatism is caused by sluggish, worn-out or over-worked kidneys, which become clogged and fail to eliminate the impurities from the system.

Rheuma acts promptly and directly upon the kidneys; it cleanses them; it absolutely renovates and leaves them in perfect condition, able to do the work nature intended they should do. 50 cents a bottle. —Advertisement.

known today. Greek merchants early established a purple factory here, and started the place upon its centuries of brisk trading intercourse. Paint vs Repairs Repairs are a dead expense. They always mean labor, material and then more paint. They are an expense that brings on more expense.

Paint is just the opposite. It ends repairs and stops expense. It protects your investment and safeguards the value in your house. But it does so in the degree of its quality.
